

Asbestos Exposure Control Plan

Here's an exposure control plan for asbestos that you can adapt for your own workplace.

Asbestos refers to a group of minerals that were once used in over 3,000 products worldwide because of their strength, heat insulation, chemical resistance and other physical properties. However, asbestos is now recognized as a hazardous substance that can cause chronic and even fatal diseases like cancer if you are exposed to it.