

Company Fined for Failing to File Progress Report on Fixing OHS Violations

A contracting company pleaded guilty for failing to file a progress report as required by the Occupational Health and Safety Division by the specified deadline. The progress report was required to identify efforts made toward remedying OHS violations. The court fined it $840 [G.S. Contracting, Govt. News Release, Sept. 21, 2015].