Confined Space Violations Cost Company $5,000

A worker was cutting inside a truck-mounted tank when the plasma cutter caused an explosion that trapped him in the tank and injured a co-worker outside. The company pleaded guilty to violating the confined space entry regulations. The court fined it $5,000 [Parts for Trucks, Inc., Govt. News Release, Oct. 25, 2012].