

Conveyor Safety Policy

Prevent costly conveyor injuries and OHS violations.

Like many companies, you may use conveyors in your workplace to move materials from one place to another. But while conveyors eliminate the need for manual lifting and carrying, workers can suffer serious or even fatal injuries if they get caught in pinch points or make contact with spools, pulleys, rollers and other moving parts of the conveyor. Here's a template you can adapt to create a conveyor safety policy at your workplace.