Safer in ’25: The 3 Pillars of Safety Culture

Recorded Date: Dec 19, 2024

Time: 9:00-10:00 AM (PDT)

Speaker: Steven St. Laurent

About This Webinar

The 3 pillars of safety – technical safety, management systems, and human and organizational factors (HOF) – are the 3 levers of safety culture. However, it can be very tempting to address each one separately, in silos, without ensuring that they are consistent when taken together.

Join Steven St Laurent as he explains several biases that can have a negative impact on the balance of the 3 safety pillars. He also suggests some ways forward, and avenues for further thinking as you make your 2025 plans.

About the Speaker

Steve St. Laurent conducted his first training (in Spanish) for a Cement company across Northern Mexico in 2002. Since then, he has conducted hundreds of safety trainings for thousands of people in construction and manufacturing companies in almost every state in the U.S. He has earned a reputation of being able to provide quality training for companies who have experienced a fatality. He has a unique talent to provide interactive safety training that impact learners and inspires behavior change.
