First Aid Needs Assessment Form

What first aid personnel, facilities and equipment does YOUR workplace need'

The first step in controlling heat stress hazards is to have a competent person do an assessment to determine what, how many and which type first aid kits and other equipment you need at your facility. Here's a form you can adapt to make such an assessment.