Hazard Control Infographic

Every workplace has hazards, and while many are easy to avoid or have minor impact, there are many others which can lead to severe injury, damage, and loss.

A hazard control program can protect workers and reduce the occurrence of accidents, illnesses and injuries. It can also help to demonstrate due diligence, improve employee morale, and reduce overall operational costs. (Source: CCOHS)