

Indoor Air Quality Complaint Walk-Through Inspection Checklist

Is the air in your workplace making people sick'

Investigating worker complaints is a key part of maintaining indoor air quality (IAQ) to the extent they enable you to determine the effectiveness of your ventilation systems and identify problems that you weren't aware of. Here's a Checklist from WorkSafeBC that the person investigating the IAQ complaint can use to perform a walk-through inspection.