

Jan. 8: Crew Safely Rescued from Grounded Tanker

A tanker ran aground off Nova Scotia just north of Sydney Mines after losing engine power. It had no cargo on board at the time. The Canadian Coast Guard safely rescued six crew members using a Cormorant helicopter. There were no reports of pollution and the ship's hull wasn't seriously damaged. Federal officials were monitoring the ship.