

July 7: Explosion and Fire at Recycling Plant Injures Worker

An explosion and fire at a recycling plant in Burnaby injured a worker, who suffered post-concussion symptoms. The blast occurred when the end of an acetylene gas tank was placed near a shearing machine, according to the fire chief. Fortunately, the fire was small and didn't spread to a building.