

Look Up and Live

This short training video from the CPWR recreates an actual US incident in which a construction worker was electrocuted by an overhead power line.