

May 1: Worker Struck by Car While Patching Potholes

A 38-year-old worker for a company hired to patch potholes is in serious condition after being struck while on the job. He was flown to the University of Alberta hospital via air ambulance. The 63-year-old driver of the vehicle involved in the incident was taken to the hospital by ground ambulance.