May 30: Seven Workers Injured in Collapse of Concrete Framework

Seven workers were injured in the collapse of framework supporting concrete that was being poured at a building at the Muskrat Falls hydroelectric project. They received first aid onsite and one was taken to the Labrador Health Centre for further assessment. But none of their injuries were serious. The cause of the collapse, which spilled wet concrete onto the workers, is under investigation.