

National Day of Mourning

April 28, the National Day of Mourning, is a day to remember and honour those who have died or been injured on the job.

April 28 DAY OF MOURNING

According to the ILO (International Labour Organization), 6000 workers die on the job every day.

Work shouldn't be terminal.

Ten years of fatalities across Canada

Source: Association of Workers' Compensation Boards of Canada (AWCBC)

1914

April 28 Ontario proclaimed the first comprehensive workers compensation act in Canada

1984

Resolution adopted at the convention of the Canadian Labour Congress declaring April 28th as a "National Day of Mourning" to honour those workers in Canada who have been killed, injured or disabled on the job, or who suffer from occupational diseases

1991

The Canadian labour movement lobbied for legislation to identify April 28th as a "National Day of Mourning." Their efforts were rewarded in February 1991, when the Federal Parliament passed the "Workers Mourning Day Act" (Bill C-223)

Every worker deserves to come home safely.

OHSInsider