

Respiratory Protection Policy (Ontario Version)

Where substitution isn't an option and airborne hazards can't be engineered away, respirators become the primary means of protecting workers against exposure. OHS laws require employers to take a number of measures to ensure proper selection, use, care, maintenance and inspection of respirators. Here's a Model Respiratory Protection Policy that outlines the required measures.