

Workplace Safety for the Holidays

As the holiday shopping season begins, employers must ensure that all workers are trained to recognize and prevent job hazards in the workplace, and incorporate safe procedures to prevent injury or illness. OHS Insider has resources to help keep workers safe at every step along the way. Whether you're working in a warehouse, retail location or delivery vehicle you are an important part of the holiday season, make sure to be safe so you and your loved ones can enjoy a happy and healthy holiday season.
