

Workplace Violence Prevention Policy

Workplace violence has become a recognized hazard that all employers must be aware of. At a minimum, you need a policy banning workplace violence, explaining what workplace violence means and setting out specific controls to prevent violence hazards. The template below illustrates what elements such a policy must include.