The original OHS laws were all about machines, chemicals, electricity and other traditional industrial hazards. What few recognized at the time is how social issues and behaviours in the workplace could also constitute a hazard. For the past decade or so, provincial governments have been in catch-up mode, changing their laws to require employers to have written policies to prevent workplace violence, bullying and harassment. But once more, our understanding of workplace social hazards is moving faster than our laws. The newest stage is the evolution of a workplace psychological safety policy that looks at social and behavioural hazards broadly and proactively. Although it's not a legal requirement, the psychological safety policy is a best practice (encapsulated in CSA standard CSA-Z1003-13, Psychological health and safety in the workplace — Prevention, promotion, and guidance to staged implementation). Here's a template of a Psychological Safety Policy based on federal law that you can adapt for your own use.
FITNESS FOR DUTY & SUBSTANCE ABUSE POLICY (FEDERAL VERSION)

This is a basic policy that can be adapted for any workplace or jurisdiction.

PURPOSE

ABC Company has adopted this Policy as part of its commitment to furnish a workplace that is psychologically healthy and safe for all of its workers. The specific objective of the Policy is to ensure that individuals recognize their rights to work in such a workplace and that ABC Company deems any harm to their psychological health and safety a serious offence that must be addressed swiftly and effectively by providing assistance and support to victims and the imposition of appropriate discipline on offenders.

The management of ABC Company recognizes that workers and the Company have a shared responsibility to promote the principles of mutual respect, confidentiality and cooperation, as outlined in this Policy. Any act that can cause harm to worker psychological health is unacceptable and will not be tolerated.

- Inside ABC Company vehicles; and
- At off-site locations where workers are required to perform their duties, including but not limited to client offices, sites of business conferences, and ABC Company-sponsored retreats, affairs, and social events.

COMPLAINTS & REPORTS OF VIOLATIONS
6.1. Notification

Workers who feel that they or a co-worker have been subject to workplace harassment, bullying, violence or other stressors or behaviours that can inflict psychological harms in violation of this Policy must immediately notify their supervisors. Exception: If the supervisor is the source of the alleged behaviour, the worker will instead notify the ABC Company HR Office.

6.2. Non-Retaliation Assurance

No worker will suffer any discipline or retaliation of any kind for reporting a violation of this Policy. This protection against retaliation also applies if ABC Company determines that the complaint is unfounded as long as it was reasonable and not made maliciously or in bad faith.

6.3. Complaint Not Workers’ Only Legal Recourse

Giving workers the right to file complaints under this Policy is not intended to discourage them from pursuing their rights under other laws, including but not limited to filing a discrimination complaint under the Canadian Human Rights Act if they believe they have been subjected to harassment or bullying on the basis of their race, national or ethnic origin, colour, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, marital status, family status, genetic characteristics, disability and conviction for an offence for which a pardon has been granted or in respect of which a record suspension has been ordered.

CONFIDENTIALITY

ABC Company will not disclose the name of an individual who files a complaint under this Policy nor the name of the alleged source of psychologically harmful behaviour unless disclosure is necessary to:

- Investigate the complaint;
- Take corrective action; or
- Required by law.

INVESTIGATION

All complaints will be investigated by ABC Company supervisors or managers who are qualified to conduct such investigations and who are not directly involved in the alleged violation or otherwise in a position where their objectivity is suspect. After the investigation, a supervisor or manager will notify the worker and accused of the results of the investigation.

DISCIPLINARY ACTION

If the investigation determines that a violation occurred, appropriate steps will be taken to discipline the person who engaged in the conduct in accordance with the terms of the ABC Company progressive discipline policy and any applicable collective agreements or employment contracts.

INSTRUCTION & TRAINING

ABC Company will provide workplace psychological safety training to the workers it employs covering:
• Minimizing the risk of psychological harms in the workplace;
• Recognition of potential sources of workplace psychological harms;
• Responding to workplace harassment, bullying, violence or other stressors or behaviours that can inflict psychological harms;
• How to report complaints; and
• How complaints are investigated and resolved.

PRIME CONTRACTORS, CONTRACTORS & SUBCONTRACTORS

ABC Company’s commitment to provide a psychologically safe workplace extends not just to its own employees but to the workers of prime contractors, contractors, and subcontractors hired to perform work at ABC Company worksites. By the same token, ABC Company also recognizes that providing a psychologically safe workplace for its own employees requires that measures be taken to ensure that such outside workers be aware of and obliged to comply with the terms of this Policy.

Prime contractors or contractors hired to control work at ABC Company worksites will be required to respect the rights of all workers engaged in the work to a psychologically safe workplace either by:

• Directly following the employer requirements set out in this Policy; or
• Implementing alternative measures and controls that are consistent with this Policy, suitable for the workplace, and provide workers at least the equivalent protection as this Policy provides.

EVALUATION

ABC Company will review this Policy in consultation with the workplace Joint Health and Safety Committee, Health and Safety Representative, or, if there is no Committee or Representative, workers at the workplace at least once a year or more often in response to changes and developments affecting workers’ health and safety.
